

Trees

Do you think life is great? Do you know one of the things that keeps us alive? Trees! They take carbon dioxide and convert it into oxygen. Carbon dioxide is bad for us to take in, and oxygen is good for us to take in. So many trees are cut down it's insane. I think something should be done about it. Like making a law.

I think a law should be made against cutting down trees. Maybe if you cut down a tree, you have to plant two more. That way, there won't be fewer trees. There will actually be more. Or, if you cut down a tree, you have to pay some money to the government. That way, they know they can't just cut down a tree and nothing will be done about it. With the money the government gets, they can plant more trees, or do something to help benefit America.

There are many good things about trees. They're homes to many animals. They look very nice in the fall. You could also use some trees for a Christmas tree. Anyway, if there are fewer houses in a neighborhood, there will probably be less of a risk of crime. Also, if people really want a house they can make it out of bricks.

If you really think life is great, think about this. This law could plant more trees. If we really want to keep this world going, don't cut down trees. This law will benefit the future America. Now I'd want to keep this world going. So for the citizens of America, and the future citizens of America, make a law against cutting down trees.
